Application Deadline

Applications to the Master of Social Work/Women's Studies program must be submitted by no later than December 15 for admission in the following year.

SUMMARY

This dual degree program option will prepare students for a licensed social work practitioner career with a specialized knowledge of the population of women. The MSW/WMS program will offer students tools and training in feminist epistemologies, sensitizing students to the unique challenges and obstacles women face.

The dual degree program will offer Women's Studies students the ability to use their specialized knowledge coupled with clinical skills developed in the MSW program to address a range of concerns specific to women from political action to individualized treatment. MSW students will become grounded in theoretical and practical concerns that affect women from a broad perspective, sensitizing them to the unique challenges as well as structural limitations (within family, community, and society) that circumvent women's ability to fully participate in society.

Both programs, while focusing on human interaction and human needs, together will strengthen students' abilities to perceive the problems women face and be sanctioned by society to intervene on an individual, community, or societal level. Candidates in this special program will be prepared to enter the social work profession with a MSW and understanding/knowledge of feminist theories and practices that complement and enhance social work practice. Further, the courses can enhance master-of-arts candidates who wish to pursue other feminist-oriented professional careers, by developing a set of unique (social work) theories and skills to bring to the fields of women's studies, human behavior, and service.

CURRICULUM
There will be no modifications to the curriculum, admissions, or graduation requirements/mode of delivery. The MSW curriculum consists of 60 credits, and the MA in Women's Studies curriculum consists of 33-36 credits (depending on whether a thesis, special project, or comprehensive capstone option is chosen). Students will be able to obtain the Masters of Social Work Degree and Masters of Arts in Women's Studies for 75 credits instead of 93 credits by taking dual listed courses that are already available in each program.

About the Program

The Master's of Marriage and Family Therapy Program is a unique learning environment where students study to elicit change within the individual, relationship and community. Using a comprehensive overview of systemic theory, clinical techniques and evidence based practices, we offer a program that is professionally rewarding and personally transformative. Graduates are state license eligible and go on to become therapists for individuals, couples and family agencies, private practice settings and schools.

Admission Information

Students are admitted to the program from various undergraduate academic backgrounds. Prospective students with diverse backgrounds, work experiences and knowledge of the therapy process a preferred.

Entrance requirements include applications, references, group and individual interviews, and transcripts of all previous academic work. The program offers the choice of 2 or 3-year cohort tracks. Application materials may be downloaded from the departmental website: http://www.southerncst.edu/academics/schools/health/academic-programs/marriagefamilytherapy/.

Master of Marriage and Family Therapy Degree

The Marriage and Family Therapy Training Program at Southern Connecticut State University is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Marriage and Family Therapy Education (COAMFTE). This program offers a comprehensive training experience directed toward meeting theoretical and clinical standards expected of prospective licensed marriage and family therapists and meets the educations requirements necessary to proceed toward licensing as a Marital and Family Therapist by the State of Connecticut. Students interested in licensure outside Connecticut are encouraged to look into individual state requirements.

Within the program, the student will progress in three major areas:

1) General professional requirements include theoretical courses consistent with COAMFTE requirements, the Association of Marital and Family Therapy Regulatory Board (AMFTRB), and the regulations for licensure for the State of Connecticut. These core courses are centered on learning the theory and practice of family therapy along with other major theories of systemic practice. In addition, the program has a strong focus on personal and professional attributes and dispositions.
2) Five hundred (500) hours of clinical experience are accrued in outside clinical internship settings and in the department's Marriage and Family Therapy Clinic. In addition to clinical practice, students are required to have group and individual supervision. A minimum of 50 hours of the required 100 hours of supervision includes raw data, either videotapes, audiotapes, or live supervision. The Marriage and Family Therapy Clinic has been in operation since 1979 and treats individuals, couples and families.

3) A required two semester concentration in Person-of-the Therapist training provides experimental, theoretical, and practical knowledge in working with individuals, couples, families, and groups from a present-centered perspective.

Graduates are eligible for associate membership in AAMFT and secure employment in various settings which include schools and private practice. The student population often contains individuals from outside the state with a majority of Connecticut residents.

Application Deadline

Applications to the Master of Social Work program must be submitted by no later than December 15 for admission in the following year.

Master of Social Work

The Master of Social Work program, which is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE), provides students with specific knowledge and skill for advanced clinical practice of social work. The graduate will be prepared for leadership roles in clinical social work practice. Graduates will be qualified for employment by both public and private agencies on local, state and national levels. The curriculum is designed to encourage innovative responses to human and social need.

The Master of Social Work curriculum is a sixty-credit program, with a concentration in Clinical Practice. The first year is structured to provide the student with a generalist base of practice. The student is required to demonstrate beginning skills and competence in the foundations of social work practice with individuals, families, small groups, communities, and organizations.

The second year is structured around a specialization in one of the following fields of practice: Children and Families (C&F); Elders and Families (ELD); Mental Health and Substance Use; Co-Occurring Disorders (MHSU-COD); and Social Work in School Settings (EDU). Two and three year plans of study are available, but students must complete the program within a maximum of four years.

Applications

Applicants for the MSW program complete all admissions materials required by both the Office of Graduate Admissions and the Social Work Department. All application materials must be received by the Office of Graduate Admissions by December 15 for admission in the following year.

Plan of Study

The program is designed to be completed in two years or three years of full-time study. Students who work full time must enroll in the three year program in which three courses are completed each semester (9 –12 credits) instead of five courses (15 credits). All students follow the same curriculum structure and course sequence, but three year students take fewer courses per semester. Students are required to be enrolled as full-time students (9 credits per semester) for at least one academic year during their period of study.
Class Schedules

The Social Work department offers courses during the weekdays, and on weeknights. We also offer some weekend classes. Many classes are in hybrid format which meet in the classroom "on the ground" for a limited number of times during the semester with up to half of the work completed online through SCSU's course management system.

COD Cohort Program

The Social Work Department offers a three year cohort program with a focus on the co-occurring disorders (COD) of mental illness and substance use. This program is designed for persons working in the mental health and addictions field. The goal of the cohort program is to allow bachelor's level professionals the opportunity to complete their MSW degree while maintaining their employment. The format involves classes at least three days per month (Friday, Saturday and Sunday) and field placement throughout the calendar year. This COD cohort program emphasizes an adult learning paradigm, in which courses are taken sequentially, a supportive learning community is created, and self-discipline and self-directed learning are key skills for success.

The admissions criteria for the COD Cohort Program are as follows:

1. Applicants must meet all SCSU Graduate School and MSW Program admissions requirements.
2. Applicants must have an interest in working with clients who have the co-occurring disorders of mental health and substance use. Interest in working with COD clients may be demonstrated by having worked in the field of mental health and substance abuse/addictions.
3. Qualified applicants from the Department of Mental Health and Addictions Services (DMHAS) or its contract agencies are highly encouraged to apply.
4. The application process for the COD cohort program is the same as the process for all MSW applicants.

Advanced Standing Policy

An applicant is eligible for admission with advanced standing who has graduated from a CSWE accredited Bachelor's of Social Work (BSW) program within the past six (6) years. The department may, upon evaluation, waive the following courses for a student who has been admitted with advanced standing: SWK 510, 532, 533, 534, 550, 570, and 571. Courses may be considered for waiver if the student earned a minimum grade of "A-" in the comparable BSW course or a minimum grade of "A" in the BSW field practicum. The minimum number of credits required of an advanced standing MSW student is 39.

Non-Matriculated and Post-Graduate Students

Courses open to non-matriculated Social Work students are SWK 510, 550, and 551. Social workers who hold an MSW degree are welcome to enroll in any social work course except field practicum on a space-available basis with permission of the instructor.
Program Sequence-60 Credits

It is highly recommended that students meet with their program advisor to review their plan of student and their progress toward completing requirements for graduation.

Student continuance in the social work program is contingent upon positive ongoing faculty evaluation of academic performance in classes and/or simulated professional training situations, and on the appropriateness of responses, attitudes and behaviors consistent with the NASW Code of Ethics and the standards of acceptable social work practice.

The first year of the program prepares students for generalist social work practice. Social work ethics, values, foundation knowledge, professional roles, skills and tasks are emphasized. The second year prepares students for advanced clinical practice in an area of specialization. Client growth, development, rehabilitation and coping will be addressed.
